Have you always wondered what level of knowledge retention your employees maintained after attending programs? OR how well your attendees have implemented what they have learnt during training? Our Post Seminar Coaching attempts to answer just that.

Post Seminar Coaching does exactly that! Through our proprietary coaching programs we work with the individual to uncover and work through personal and professional challenges that effect implementation - obstacles that go beyond the actual training, such as relationship, personal, financial, or home issues. Once these challenges have been dealt with and the new concepts are integrated with their values and needs, productivity and success takes a quantum leap. Do You Know…

- What the level of retention is for your programs?
- How well your attendees implement what they learnt in your training?
- Are your attendees clear of other obstacles in order to implement your training?
- Do your attendees and their organisations return for additional programs from your company?
- Are you ready to extend and grow your business with programs that enhance your core curriculum?
